The Care Paradox

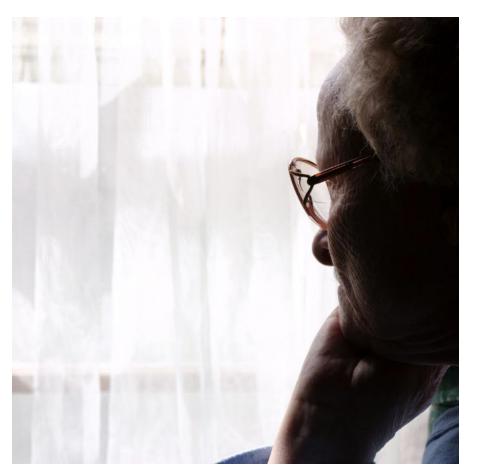

A Movement to Save New Hampshire In Home Care Services for Our Most Vulnerable

Christine Tappan, MSW, CAGS Chief, Strategy & External Affairs

At the Heart of the Care Paradox

- Choices for Independence underfunded by $153 million since 2011
 - Providers subsidizing inadequate government funding
- Caregivers grossly underpaid
- Challenge to recruit and retain workforce
- Workforce shortage means only 66% of services are provided
- People going without meals, bathing, social contact and dying alone

If the CFI Program Collapses

- Ripple effect on healthcare system
- Nursing homes don't have capacity to accommodate influx
- Hospitals unable to discharge to home and there wouldn't be room for those needing a hospital stay
- Family members' lives turned upside down having to leave their jobs to provide care

The Movement Begins

- Our Partners: Ascentria In-Home Care, Waypoint, The Alliance for Healthy Aging Advocacy Group and Granite State Home Health and Hospice Association form The Care Paradox
- Funded by $60K from NH Charitable Foundation
- Advocacy initiative supported by marketing and public relations campaigns
- Increase awareness: built website, crafted digital marketing, media relations, television, radio and print

In the News

With low wages and few workers, NH home care system has 'gone off the cliff' – Keene Sentinel

New Hampshire's in-home care provider system is 'in danger of collapse' Lack of funds threatens existence of home care service program – New Hampshire Business Review

"NH's Choices for Independence (CFI) program is a vital asset to our state [as it helps] people to stay in their own homes and live in their local communities. It's critically important that programs such as CFI be adequately funded to provide assurances to those who rely on it that their needs will be met now and into the future." - Steve Ahnen, president, New Hampshire Hospital Association.

Commentary: Home health care providers will close July 1, unless NH provides funds – Seacoast Online

"This crisis will only get worse if these conditions are allowed to continue unchecked. New Hampshire's older adults and persons with disabilities deserve a chance to spend their last years well cared for in their own homes." – Amy Moore, director of Ascentria In-Home Care

The Result

- House put forth a budget that almost fully funded needs
- Senate removed $15M from budget
- Care Paradox advocacy efforts and communications campaigns applied pressure on Senate Finance Committee
- The committee restored the $15M back into the budget
- As it stands, the budget allows the agencies to keep doors open
- At best, will be a phased in rate change – Care Paradox will continue until the final rate adjustment
